The election of delegates to represent the local Post at the state convention to be held in Worcester the latter part of this month, took place, and the following were elected: William Cronin, William Higgins and George Abbott. Alternates, James Dick, T. J. O'Sullivan, Horace Hale Smith, Bartlett Hayes, Philip Thomson, James Gillen and Ludwig Moorehead.

The bonus question was next brought up and after much discussion of the pros and cons, it was voted to leave this question of a Federal bonus entirely up to Congress, and no action was taken by the representatives of the local Post.

The next important action of the evening was that in regard to universal military training which the club was greatly in favor of, providing it was in a modified military form.

Along with this work he will have charge of the housing of the employees and other questions arising from present day employment conditions.

The company already owns and operates "The Hillside Club" and one hundred houses which have accommodations for many of their employees.

Mr. Fouhy will have full charge of the supervision of these buildings, and steps will be taken to make additional conveniences in regard to housing.

The great increase in business, as well as the demand for new methods, has compelled the Smith and Dove Manufacturing Company to make similar adjustments for the betterment of their employees, as were taken by the Tyr Rubber Company earlier in the year.

For the past seven years, along with the duties of assistant superintendent, Roy H. Bradford has had the duties of employment manager to contend with, which, until this present change, has made him an unusually busy man, and deprived him of giving his much desired devotion to his regular duties as assistant superintendent.

Many changes took place the first of January of this year; Henry A. Bodwell, former superintendent, was appointed treasurer and general manager, and Mr. Bradford was promoted to general superintendent, and William Simpson appointed assistant superintendent.

The increased duties of Mr. Bradford, made it impossible for him to give the necessary time to the employment end, and the growth of the business this year has been so marked that it was decided to add a new man to the organization to devote all his time to employment.

Mr. Fouhy of Dorchester, has been secured to take full charge of this new work and will endeavor to make such changes and adjustments as will not only better the concern, but the employee as well.

He has had a long experience as an employment manager with large firms in Boston — one of these, Lever Bros., and during the war, was with the Curtis Aeroplane Company.

Along with this work he will have charge of the housing of the employees and other questions arising from present day employment conditions.

The company already owns and operates "The Hillside Club" and one hundred houses which have accommodations for many of their employees.

Mr. Fouhy will have full charge of the supervision of these buildings, and steps will be taken to make additional conveniences in regard to housing.

A fire loss of only $,069 per capita last year is the remarkable record achieved by the town of Harriman, Pa., a place of 5000 population, where one of the shipyards of the Emergency Fleet Corporation is located.

This figure, surprising compared with a per capita loss for the entire United States of about $2.76, covering both the town and the adjoining yards, represents fires, the causes of which are classified as follows:

25.4% due to carelessness
14.2% partly preventable
13.3% unknown

There were 295 fires, with the total loss for the year $1158.60.

Careful inspections were made daily throughout the plant and the town, the total for the year being 23,896, as a result of which there were 2061 orders issued for the removal of hazardous conditions.

Another Fact Worth Considering

In January 1857 a certain individual, now living, opened an account in this bank for $10.00.

For the next fifteen years whenever he had a dollar to spare it was added to this account.

During the next seven years his savings increased until he had made a total deposit of $746.00.

Since the account was opened the bank has paid him $1615.00 and today its withdrawal value is $206.56.

We urge regular savings even if it is only $1.00 at a time.

HOLLIS

With next Monday's special Columbus Day matinee, will begin the final week of the engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, of Henry Miller and Blanche Bates as co-stars in "Moliere," the play by Philip Moeller, which during the past week, duplicated in Boston, the sensational success it won in New York last season. Without doubt, this is one of the most notable contributions to the American stage, the joint appearance of these two eminent artists being an auspiciousevent in itself. The production, in harmony with everything that Mr.
Miller has given the theatre, is exceptionally worthy and artistic. The fact that the drama reflects the magnificent period of Louis XIV of France, permits of supremely beautiful treatment.Mr. Miller appears as Moliere, the great French dramatist, who was recognized as the Shakespeare of his time, and Miss Bates appears as Madame de Montespan, the brilliant and beautiful mistress of the king. With these two leading personages, Mr.
Moeller has woven a drama of intense and moving situations, vivifying through the supreme art of the leading players and the distinguished supporting company the life and personages of that gay French court.Among the historical personages introduced are Louis XIV, Armande the young wife of Moliere, La Forest, the aged cook to whom the dramatists read his plays, Collinge, the faithful old actor; Fontaine, the writer of fables, and Lalli, the court musician. The play is in three acts, with the scenes laid in Moliere's study in the Palais Royal, and the apartment of Madame de Monte-span, in the Louvre.In addition to the Columbus Day matinee, the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given. Seats are on sale for the balance of the engagement, and mail orders will be carefully filled.

COPLEY

"The Irresistible Marmaduke," which is next week's play to be given by the Henry Jewett Players at the Copley Theatre, is a three-act comedy written by Ernest Denny, who gave to the stage "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy" and other successful comedies. This is a play quite new to American playgoer and its production by these players is in line with Henry Jewett's established policy of giving his public pieces of high literary quality which have not been seen before in Boston. In fact, this play will be the tenth that has been given at this theatre for the first time here."The Irresistible Marmaduke" tells the story of the adventures of a young Englishman of noble birth who bears a remarkable resemblance to another. Marmaduke has disappeared.
His apparent portrait has appeared in anewspaper as a lost-memory case, at that time a patient in a London hospital.
The lost-memory patient is sent for.
It turns out not to be Marmaduke at all, but an agreeable young peer, who is his double. It is not hard for the young peer to imagine himself as the real Marmaduke, and he proceeds to adopt to himself with evident satisfaction his double's mother, step-father and even his lady-love. Not until the arrival of the young peer's fiancée does his memory come back, and then with a jolt.Mr. Jewett has cast the play with great care. The dual role will be played by E. E. Clive; Mortimer Gregory by H. Conway Wingfield; Lady Susan
Keppel, Miss Jessamine Newcombe;
Lady Althea Gregory, Miss Gladys
Morris; Patricia O'Brien, Miss Nancy
Stewart; Beatrice Wyley, Miss Viola
Roach; Walter, Nicholas Joy; Dawson,
Miss Mary Hamilton; Dr. Keeling, Cameron Matthews. On its production at the Haymarket, London, "The Irresistible Marmaduke" received unqualified approval from the critics of that city.

WILBUR

One of the really delightful events of the theatrical season in any city, is the appearance of that droll comedian, William Hodge; especially is this the case when he appears in a new play.
One of these worth-while occasions will occur locally at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, next Monday, Columbus Day,
October 13th, when Mr. Lee Shubert will present William Hodge in his brand-new play "The Guest of Honor." It is a comedy romance of New York life, in three acts. So consistently successful have been the several plays in which Mr. Hodge has appeared since his phenomenal success in "The Man From Home," that his legion of devoted admirers apparently never questioned in advance the success of a new play.
In this instance, it is said, this faith and confidence will be more than justified, for Mr. Hodge believes that in "The Guest of Honor" he has the happiest vehicle of many seasons. It is a typical American play for a typical American actor, who, as usual, has surrounded himself with a group of admirable players including: Jennie Lamont, Miriam McCauley, Jane Miller, Jane Houston, Katherine Brook, Graham
Lucas, Scott Cooper, Brigham Royce, George Lund, Howard Morgan, Charles
W. Butler, J. Albert Hall, David A.
Leonard and George Syndham.

SHUBERT

Direct from nearly six months at the Shubert and Casino Theatres, New York, Lew Fields and "A Lonely Romeo" Company comes to the Shubert Theatre (Boston), opening with a special Columbus Day matinee next Monday, October 13th.This rollicking musical comedy has enjoyed great prosperity during its New York engagement which opened early in June and has continued without interruption, up to the present time. The musical comedy is in three acts and seven scenes, with twenty musical numbers, many of which have already gained much popularity. Mr.
Fields, himself, is seen in the dual role of a staid business man, who at night disguises himself as a young cabaret devotee in order that he may join the night life of New York. Owing to his disguises many amusing complications ensue which provide Mr. Fields with unusual opportunities for his broadfield of comedy. He has been seen in this city in many different plays and characters, but it is thought that the role which he portrays in "A Lonely Romeo" is best suited to him of any he has ever attempted.The cast supporting Mr. Fields is of unusual excellence and includes: Fran-

TREMONT

But little time remains in which to see Gen. M. Cohan's great character comedy, "A Prince There Was" at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, with Grant Mitchell (of "A Tailor-Made Man" fame) and his clever company of associate players including George Parsons, Gilda Leary, Ernest Stallord, Wanda Carlyle, A. G. Andrews, Jessie
Ralph, Ralph Sippely, Grace Nolan, Ralph Theodore, Elizabeth Dunne and others. Boston reviewers and play patrons have heartily endorsed the New York and Chicago verdict that Mr.
Cohan's play, — founded upon the story "Enchanted Hearts" by Mrs.
Darragh Aldrich — is the funniest comedy in recent years. Notwithstanding the fact that capacity crowds have greeted every performance, "A Prince There Was" must terminate the Boston engagement shortly, in spite of the phenomenal patronage, as the play is booked in Philadelphia for a long run that can not be postponed. Therefore "A Prince There Was" will positively enter upon the final week in Boston, Monday evening, October 19th. Accordingly the management request out-of-town patrons to get their mail orders at the earliest possible moment, in order to avoid disappointment, as the advance demand for the few remaining performances is unprecedented."A Prince There Was" is Grant Mitchell as the fascinating prince in this up-to-the-minute fairy story of modern American life, who steps from sumptuous surroundings of a multi-millionaire's apartments in the ultra-fashionable Hotel Plaza, to the sordid environment of a second-rate boarding house, in order that he may find true happiness and make life worth living.Miss Gilda Leary, the leading woman who is supporting Mr. Mitchell, has scored a pronounced personal hit in the exacting role of "the princess." Miss Leary will be favorably remembered for her excellent work in support of Lou Tellegen in "Blind Youth," and with Chauncey Olcott in "The Voice of McConnell."Lyman Cheever Receives Discharge

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

School Teachers' association. This committee will make a study of the whole salary question and the increased cost of living, and report as soon as possible, after consultation with the town authorities, at a special meeting of the board.

The memorial was as follows:

The following resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the Andover Public School Teachers' Association; for presentation to the School Committee.

It is understood that this is done in no spirit of disloyalty or criticism of the attitude of the superintendent or the committee itself, but merely that they may have before them a frank statement of the opinion of the teaching force.

Because of the marked increase in absolutely necessary living expenses since the teachers contracts for the current year were signed in April, we believe that teachers who were elected at that time should receive a minimum salary of $1000 per year and that such rating should date from the beginning of this school year. While it may be true that housekeeping expenses have not materially increased since April, investigation shows that the prices for rooms, board, and laundry have been very considerably advanced in Andover, and the cost of clothes everywhere.

We further think that any teacher who is worthy to serve in the Public Schools of Andover, and is reelected on recommendation of the Superintendent should receive an annual increase of $100 until at least $1200 is reached.

The principals of the grade schools should, in our opinion, receive $100 a year more than their assistants, plus an additional amount, varying with the number of rooms supervised.

The department teachers and principles of the Junior and Senior High Schools and the special supervisors, should be paid on the basis of training, experience, personality and general efficiency. No teacher who has devoted years to preparation for his or her life work, and who is successful in the duties of the profession, should be expected to work for less than $1200 a year.

The board was unanimous in their opinion that the teachers' salaries should be increased, and the special committee will go over the whole situation carefully, and there is no doubt but that its recommendations to the voters will be endorsed as the citizens have never failed to respond to the request of the teachers for more pay.

Another matter of great importance was brought before the meeting by David R. Lawson, who with other members of the finance and advisory committee, Dr. Conroy and G. A. Christie, have considered the advisability of transporting pupils by auto, instead of trolley, train and barge. The cost to the town has increased yearly, until now the transportation bill is $3500. Mr. Lawson has made a study of the matter, and his motion to empower the superintendent to make suitable arrangement with Mr. Morrissey for the transportation of pupils was unanimously carried. It is believed there would be a financial saving, but the greatest consideration would be the speedy transportation of pupils to their homes immediately at the end of the school sessions, instead of waiting for from one to three hours for train service to Ballardvale and West Andover, as at present. This method of transportation is being adopted with success in many towns similar to Andover.

On account of the large enrollment of pupils at the North school where one teacher has eight grades, Miss Catherine Welch, a graduate of Lowell Normal School, is assisting Miss Walker, principal of the school.

The board indorsed the payment of the following bills for September on the recommendation of the finance committee:

Soccer

Andover United won a big victory from the Lawrence eleven in the district soccer league game at Glen Essex last Saturday afternoon. The score was seven to nothing, and clearly tells the difference between the two teams. From the start, the town team looked much better than the city eleven, and had the best of the game in the first half, though they only scored once. Pete Clark and Rennie were responsible for the low score, the back and the goal keeper doing great service for their side. In the second half, the Lawrence team was completely outplayed and even the clever Rennie could not prevent the ball from crossing the goal line. The change in the home lineup worked well, both forward and back. Peter Cairnie, the little all-round athlete, made his comeback in soccer, and it was a good one. He scored three goals both by his own efforts and by accepting chances from the wingers.

The local team made the trip by motor truck, going by the new boulevard and returning the same way. This, beside being a pleasant way to travel, was a much quicker one than by the cars.

Mr. James Tusan was referee again this week, and some of the spectators took the baseball fans' privilege of talking to him from the side. Though some of the previous week's feeling was carried over, he was not courted quite so ardently as when he officiated here.

Captain Haddon won the toss and faced his team up the hill. The venerable Harry Rhodes put the ball in play and the ancient rivals were at it once more. Both ends were visited rapidly and both cleared as quickly. Andover tried another run after Clark had kicked out and from a nice center by Hackney, Deyermund opened the scoring. Andover came back again, but Rennie saved Caldwell's shot. Deyermund placed to the goal, but Rennie kicked out and had to save from Hackney and Cairnie, soon after. At the other end, J. Deyermund was tried, but proved quite able to save the best the city men could offer. Half time found the score 1 to 0.

On resuming play, it was soon seen that it was but a question of how many goals the United could pile on. Cairnie got the second goal after some clever passing when Hackney placed for him. Rennie had no chance of saving. It was shortly after that Peter again scored, this time taking the ball in center and beating Clark, then taking the ball close in and neatly shooting it past the keeper. The fourth goal was a beauty by Hackney, who came in, and taking a cross from the left, shot hard between the goalie and the post, with force almost enough to lift the net from its fastenings.

The city team now got away and had a fine chance to score, but Jack Deyermund saved a shot from McDonald at four yard range. The fifth goal came as a result of Andover pressing on the city end. There were several of the United players in front when the ball was kicked against Gunther, who tried to clear, but the ball bounded off him into the goal. The sixth goal was another for Cairnie. From a hard shot by Skea, which beat the keeper, but looked like missing the post, Cairnie ran in and just guided the leather over the line. W. Deyermund got the last goal as well as the first. Stepping in at the right moment, he quickly and surely shot the ball past Rennie for number seven, after which the game ended.

ANDOVER: J. Deyermund; J. Low and R. Jackson; J. Coleman, W. Haddon and F. Nicoll; D. Hackney, W. Deyermund, P. Cairnie, J. Caldwell and C. Skea.

LAWRENCE: J. Rennie; P. Clark and Gunther; W. Roberts, H. Liester and A. Crowther; A. Eaton, Windle, H. Rhodes, McDonald and Raitton.

Score: Andover 7, Lawrence 0. Goals, Cairnie 3, Deyermund 2, Hackney 1 and one by accident. Referee, James Tusan. Time, two 45-minute halves.

Fishway in the Merrimack

The Massachusetts Fish and Game Commission is having a fishway built at the dam in the Merrimack river, which, when completed, will enable the salmon to continue their flight to the ocean. Without this new assistance, it would not only be impossible for them to ascend the high falls, but their procedure to salt water environment would be greatly handicapped.

The fishway is built so as to do away with these difficulties, and render assistance to fish, especially the ones mentioned, in such a course. Little room-like spaces will be built at intervals from the river bed, to the top of the falls, which will not only make this task easier, but will reduce the water's force considerably. The water will now have to take a zig-zag course, and little exertion on the part of the fish will be sufficient.

Family Finished Washing

Wise and Courageous Action

The public has become so accustomed to expect courage to be exhibited only by men who dare to risk body in conflict, or in hazardous undertaking, that it seems difficult sometimes for full appreciation to be given to the exhibition of other kinds of courage, oftentimes requiring much more genuine manhood.

The Republicans of Massachusetts showed an ability to grasp a situation and handle it wisely at the State Convention held in Boston last Saturday, that ought to be fully understood by every voter in Massachusetts. If it were understood, it would be seen that some men showed a type of courage in meeting the situation that was created in connection with the League of Nations, and the Republican plank dealing with that subject, worthy of the highest admiration.

For example, it took courage for a man like Louis A. Coolidge, leading the movement in Massachusetts for an assertion of genuine Americanism which does not approve the present program for a League of Nations, to sit in the meeting of the resolutions committee and finally agree to forego an assertion of his genuinely held and strongly felt convictions, in the interests of party harmony, when he knew that a certain amount of gloating would fill various newspapers, and comments would be made that would attempt to let the public believe that he, and those who believed with him, had been defeated.

It took courage for Senator Lodge to come on from Washington, where he has been leading one of the most notable fights in the history of the United States, and agree to a compromise that did not assert the full support of Massachusetts Republicans for his full program, knowing what Mr. Coolidge knew, and in addition, knowing that attempts would be made in Washington to misconstrue the platform and again misrepresent Massachusetts Republicans in their attitude toward the senior senator from Massachusetts.

It takes courage for these men and their associates, and for what was undoubtedly a majority of the convention, to sit still and listen to comment being made, and to newspaper discussion going on, tending to show a victory for one faction and a defeat for the other, when they all know the stand taken represented a sacrifice solely in order that the success of the issue of law and order raised by Governor Coolidge might have no handicap whatsoever before the voters this fall.

The Republicans of Massachusetts are indebted to the senior Senator for his magnanimity in this trying position, and even more, the people of Massachusetts are indebted to him and to those who so loyally supported him for seeing to it that the Republican platform dealt so wisely with an acute situation in these trying times.

The job ahead now, is to see that the issue, having been clearly set before the people of Massachusetts as one in which law and order, upheld by a courageous governor, is in combat with about the most disreputable platform ever set before a Massachusetts electorate, must have a big victory next November, not only for the good of the state itself, but for the good of the entire nation.

Samuel H. Boutwell

Samuel H. Boutwell was one of Andover's builders: a builder of its material forces as a public official for many years; a builder of its civic forces as a leader in movements for all local improvements; a builder of its moral forces as a man who loved his church and served the community through it.

Living in Andover for eighty years, he has stamped his fine character upon the town's life. His home has always been in the West Parish, and for a long time he has been the leader of that section in all public matters. As a farmer, few excelled him, and the prosperity that came to him in his life work attests his skill and thrift in that activity.

He liked public life and became a leader in public affairs through his ability as an administrator in almost every office the town numbered.

He did his public work well, because he was the soul of honesty, always clear-headed, of calm judgment, and above all else, always a gentleman. For many years he ranked as one of the town's best debaters in town meeting, and his convincing arguments have controlled many acts of Andover citizens. As a member of the West church, he contributed largely to the place of influence which that institution has long held in the community.

How the grange will miss him! To have him at the meetings was a joy for all those present, and to have him active in any grange affair made the whole atmosphere breathe friendliness, and good fellowship.

A citizen of high character, a gentleman of fine instinct, a friend of men who brightened every corner, a public servant who deserved his honors, the town of Andover has been honored in the long life of Samuel H. Boutwell.

School Teachers' Pay

The school teachers ought to have more pay for their services. It ought not to come from newspaper agitation or because of any organized movement to give it to them, but because the importance of their work calls for an intelligence, training and personality, all of high standard and no longer a surplus in the market.

Most of the school teachers are women, and women are getting more appreciation for their services than they used to. They do more things besides school teaching than they did twenty years ago, and they do most of them very well. For work in other lines they are well paid.

Of course there is a lot of argument about their long vacations and other pleasant features in teaching, that cannot be entirely ignored, but in the last analysis the real reason why school teachers should be better paid, is because their work is of great importance, and for it they are now inadequately recompensed.

South Church Notes

The Rally Day service last Sunday was a red letter day for the Sunday School with crowded vestries. The speakers were Miss Mabel Emerson, who told the tragedy of Armenian children; Miss Lucy Abbott, who gave an interesting account of her travels across the sea to France, as an army nurse; and Mr. Horace H. Smith, who gave a humorous account of some serious experiences in the naval reserve service. The coming of many new scholars is in pleasing contrast with the paralyzing effect of last year's epidemic of influenza.

The Woman's Missionary committee, in charge of Mrs. John V. Holt, is planning a series of interesting services for the season, with several new features.

The Men's Club, Mr. H. C. Sanborn, president, is getting ready its program for the first meeting, October 24th.

The meeting of the North Essex Congregational Club will be a "Ladies' Night" affair and will be held in the vestry of the South church, the social commencing Monday evening at 6.30 o'clock, and the supper at 7.00 o'clock. The supper will be prepared and served by the ladies of the South church, under the direction of Mrs. Frederic G. Moore, and it will be made an occasion for a sort of harvest reunion of many people who are not members of the club. Tables will be spread for two hundred people who may obtain tickets before Monday evening, from Miss Marion Barnard. Prof. and Mrs. Hincks will be the guests of honor and will speak of some Andover reminiscences.

Free Church Notes

The Men's Club will begin their meetings for the season next Tuesday evening with an attractive programme. Hon. Archie N. Frost, clerk of courts of Lawrence, will give an address and there will be music and refreshments.

The War Service Committee of the church are planning to give a supper and entertainment to the returned soldiers and sailors of the parish, on the evening of Friday, October 24th. Arrangements already made, assure a genuine good time for the boys.

The Congregational Drive for five million dollars for the "Pilgrim Memorial Fund" has its day in the Free church, next Sunday. Rev. Raymond G. Clapp, formerly pastor of the First Trinitarian Church of Lowell, will present the cause.

Thirty-five boys and girls received certificates of promotion from the Cradle Roll to the Primary Department, and twenty-one from the Primary Department to the main school at the Rally Day Service last Sunday morning.

Program for Demonstration Groups in Household Accounts

All homemakers are cordially invited to attend the classes which will be held once a month at the Guild house under the direction of Miss Laura M. Gifford, Household Accounts teacher from Amherst Agricultural College. The first meeting will be on October 14th at 2.30 o'clock. The program for the course is as follows:

1. Why and how to keep accounts.
2. Meat cutting demonstration, showing cheapest and best cuts of meat.
3. Demonstration—use, preparation and cooking cheaper cuts of meat—making and use of fireless cooker.
4. Demonstration—use of left over meats and meat substitutes.
5. Demonstration—use of milk.
6. Grocery order for family of five. Discussion of changes which may be made with either same food value or increased food value at the same cost. Discussion of change of order for variety, maintaining the same cost.
7. Planning of meals from grocery order; a. Balanced meals; b. Variety and attractiveness; c. Time of preparation; d. Value of planning ahead.
8. Problem of buying.
9. Making a budget.

OBITUARY

MARTHA CROCKETT JOHNSON

Mrs. Martha Crockett Johnson laid down her life of usefulness here and entered into rest early on Friday morning, October 3rd. The news came to her friends as a painful surprise. Mrs. Johnson was the daughter of William Crockett and Margaret Archbold Crockett, of Middle River, Nova Scotia, where she was born in 1862. She came to Andover in 1880, but in 1889 returned to her old home and was married to Warren L. Johnson of this town. They settled in New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, where three children were born to them. In 1895 they returned to the house in Andover, on Morton street, where the fourth child was born, and remained there until recent years, when they moved to their present home on Salem street.

Mrs. Johnson is survived by two sisters in Nova Scotia, her husband, and three children: Edith H., a teacher in the public schools; Gile A., a broker in the wool business, and Muriel C., a student in Miss Wheelock's school in Boston.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at her home, 20 Salem street, Andover. Rev. Edwin H. Prescott of the Baptist church, conducted the services and burial was in Spring Grove Cemetery. The bearers were J. Harold Melledge, Judge Colver J. Stone, Cecil K. Bancroft and William H. Jaquith, 2nd.

To pass one's days in the fulfillment of homely duties, which are always noble duties, is to truly live; but when the home boundaries are so enlarged as to include representatives of many other widely separated homes,—to be able to blend those varying influences into one harmonious atmosphere, requires not only force of character, but a rare tactfulness as well.

Mrs. Johnson was the maker of such a home, in the Johnson house on Salem street, and those who have long known and loved her, deeply regret her passing, and sympathize with her stricken family; where, as a devoted wife and mother, she will be sorely missed.

Not only do her friends mourn Mrs. Johnson's death, the faculty of Phillips Academy feel her going to be a real loss, because of her fidelity in co-operating with them in the home department of their work.

Three years ago, Mr. Johnson's family lost a dear daughter, who for a number of years had suffered a fatal disease. Throughout this long period of constant anxiety, Mrs. Johnson was sustained by a Christian faith, apparent and sincere; a faith that shone more and more brightly under the test of affliction. Bravely meeting this great trial herself, she cheered and helped the others to accept their sorrow as the will of Heaven.

Undoubtedly this continued strain upon her powers, endured as it was amid countless other duties and responsibilities, told heavily upon her own frail health, and she was unable to rally from the serious operation she was obliged to undergo last week, in Boston. She leaves a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who will not forget this sweet, capable woman. In the first shock of such a parting, the natural outcry is: How great our loss!—but let us dwell on all she has accomplished here, and on the fine qualities of her bright, sunny nature, and be glad it was our privilege to know her. We must remember, too, that her removal is her own great gain.

"She is not dead,
She doth not sleep—
She has awakened from the dream of life,
And far-out-soared the shadows of the night—
It's morning where she dwells with God."

When such souls take their flight, earth seems empty to those they have loved and left behind. That through all the trials and experiences of life, they continued brave and true, should be a comfort now—an uplift in our sorrow.

"We'll hide a loving memory in our hearts,
And follow in the pathway where they trod
We'll make each day another step upon
The stairway leading up to them—and God."

Dr. William Shaw Resigns As Secretary of Christian Endeavor

Dr. William Shaw, after thirteen years as general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, has tendered his resignation to the Christian Endeavor headquarters in Boston. His successor will be E. P. Gates, formerly field secretary of Illinois, who will assume his duties at the new year.

Dr. Shaw was born in Ballardvale in 1860 and received but a common school education. When but twelve years of age, he started to work as a spooler in the Woolen mills at Ballardvale and was advanced, till at twenty-one he was an assistant overseer. Later he was a salesman in Boston, and in 1886 became identified with the Christian Endeavor and has served as advertising manager, publication manager, treasurer secretary and publisher for the society.

Dr. Shaw has travelled to many parts of the globe in the interest of the society and has been a contributor to magazines of articles on religious, social, economic and educational questions. In 1914 the degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon him at the Occidental college, Los Angeles, Cal. He was a candidate for governor on the prohibition ticket.

Dr. Shaw plans to retire and to take a long rest.

The regular monthly meeting of the R. C. O. A. was held in their club rooms in the Barnard block, last Tuesday evening, with nearly forty-five members present.

Both the secretary's and treasurer's reports of the previous month were read and accepted, the treasurer's report showing a decided increase over the last meeting's report.

No special business was brought up before the house, aside from the electing of a committee of three, namely, Dr. Malcolm McTernan, Roy Rhodes and Clifford Marshall, to take charge of the selecting of new club reading matter.

After the adjournment of the meeting refreshments consisting of coffee, sandwiches, cheese, doughnuts and ice cream were served by the entertainment committee.

The minstrel show committee under Chairman Walter Thompson, is hard at work, and soon the talent will be gathered to begin the necessary rehearsing. With the membership increasing at the present rate, the committee will have an unlimited number of men available for the club's first minstrel in years.

The public dance committee under Chairman Sparks, has already made preparations for the big public dance scheduled for Monday evening, November 10th.

The private dance that was held Friday evening, September 26th, did not come up to expectations, but the committee is confident of a larger attendance at the next one which will be decided upon in the near future.

Mr. Lombard's Pastorate in Haverhill Ends

There was general surprise in local religious circles recently, when it became known that the Winter Street Free Will Baptist Church Society, by a vote of seventy-one to fifty-three, had voted to discontinue the pastorate of Rev. William E. Lombard. The society's constitution provides that the pastor must be given three months, so Rev. Mr. Lombard may remain if he desires, until next January. The pastorate may, however, be terminated by mutual consent at any time.

Rev. Mr. Lombard has been a leader in the Merrimack Valley Baptist Association for fifteen years. He came here from Andover, where he served as pastor of the Baptist church for eleven years, in June, 1917. It developed a short time ago, that a faction in the Winter Street church has been unfriendly to Rev. Mr. Lombard throughout his pastorate and that this antipathy has increased during the past two years. Recently the directors requested the pastor to resign, but he refused.

It recently became known that, at a church society meeting last evening, the resignation was submitted before the vote was taken, to discontinue the present pastorate. Albert Rand, for the church society, issued the following statement:

"It was decided by a vote of the church society that the present pastoral relations be discontinued. The church furthermore voted that it had found the character of the pastor above reproach, that he has preached the word faithfully, and that to the best of his ability, he has faithfully performed the duties of pastor. Any statement other than this is unauthorized."

Leading members of the church admitted that there was not a word of fault to be found regarding Rev. Mr. Lombard or his pastorate, but from the beginning of his pastorate, they said, he simply did not seem to fit with some of his parishioners, no matter how hard he tried.—Boston Globe, Oct. 9

A FOREMOST CITIZEN

Death of Samuel H. Boutwell for Fifty Years a Leader in Andover Affairs

After a brief illness of three weeks Samuel Hyde Boutwell, at the full age of eighty-one years, passed peacefully away Wednesday morning at the home of his son, Frederic S. Boutwell, on Chestnut street. Mr. Boutwell had been affected with a slight cold, when about three weeks ago he suffered what later proved to be a cerebral hemorrhage. The results of this became more apparent as the days passed, until the end came. In recent years he has been in the habit of spending his week-ends at the home of his son, his children encouraging him to relieve himself of the care of the farm as much as possible. He has always enjoyed good health and has had but one serious sickness of two or three weeks' length before this last.

SAMUEL HYDE BOUTWELL

Mr. Boutwell was a lifelong resident of Andover, having been born in the West Parish, March 25, 1838. He was the son of George and Fannie (Hyde) Boutwell. He was educated in the public schools of the town and also at Phillips Academy, as a member of the class of 1856. He taught school four winters; two in Andover and two in Tewksbury. When he was twenty-one years old he was elected to the school committee and served fifteen years. He was a representative in the Massachusetts Legislature from this district in 1874 and again more recently in 1910. In 1882 he was elected a selectman and remained on the board for nearly twenty-five years, giving such general satisfaction that he was rarely opposed. For nearly thirty years he was a trustee of Pundard Free School, having been in recent years the chairman of the board. He was also a devoted member of the West Church for more than sixty-one years, serving as a deacon of the church since 1887 and being greatly beloved by young and old among its members on account of his genial ways. In all these respects he has been prominently identified with the welfare of his native town. He was a man of sterling worth and was held in high esteem.

Mr. Boutwell had a lifelong interest in farming and orcharding. He was not only a charter member of the Andover Grange, but also the leading spirit in its organization. Before the organization of the Grange he was a promoter of the Farmers' Club, an organization meeting in the town hall, which flourished for a few years. His interest in all kinds of orcharding was due to early influences in his life. His father was a nurseryman, coming to Andover from Newton where he had learned the business. In those days this was a new business. His farm was covered with fruit trees. The old home was built in a cherry orchard. It is interesting to recall that many of the old trees on Andover Hill were set out by father and son, the father meeting the son in town for this purpose while the latter was a student in the Academy.

In 1865 Mr. Boutwell married Miss Alice J. Trull, who died on Easter Sunday in 1915. Of this union there were born five children, all of whom survive him and are citizens of Andover: Frederic S., treasurer of the Andover Savings Bank; Arthur T., head of the bleaching and dyeing department at Smith & Dove; Chester N., who has been associated with his father in farming; Winthrop S., farmer and mechanic; and Alice J., who in recent years has made her home with her brother, Frederic. In addition to his own family he is survived by three sisters: Mrs. Parthenia Holt and Miss Mary K. Boutwell, Bartlett street, and Mrs. James G. Merrill, Mountain Lakes, N. J.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the West Parish Church and will be conducted by Rev. Newman Matthews. The burial will be in the family lot in the West Parish cemetery.

Campaign for Better Speech

One result of the so-called "army tests" has been a general awakening to the deficiencies of our English. The vast amount of illiteracy and of slovenly speech has served to create an interest in the improvement of our language. A movement for a nation-wide celebration of American Speech Week during the first week in November has been launched. The public schools will conduct the campaign in Andover.

Plans are being formulated with the desire to develop a strong public sentiment for purer, pleasant, forceful language, and the cooperation of everybody is solicited in the hope for a general uplift in the character of our speech.

Come one and all, accept the slogan, "Better brush up your English."

BATTERY F MEN MEET

Repetition of Old Time Fellowship Reigns at Meeting of Battery F, 102nd F. A., in Lowell Last Evening. Many Andover Men Attended

For the first time since that memorable day of April 29th, the members of Lowell's lucky battery had the opportunity to gather in the community rooms on Dutton street, Lowell, last evening, and get in closer touch with their comrades-in-arms that are now scattered in every walk of life.

The first of the evening was spent in exchanging friendly handshakes and in making various inquiries that would naturally accumulate after an absence of nearly six months.

There were as many as one hundred members present, and a little after nine o'clock, the chairman of Battery F associates had the boys march to their designated clubroom.

Immediately after the meeting was called to order, Mayor Perry Thompson of Lowell, was introduced, and gave a very interesting talk, praising the boys to whom he spoke enviously of. Otto Hockmeyer, better known as "the father of the boys" was the next speaker, and he likewise complimented the efficiency of the battery.

Three rounds of fast boxing was exhibited by Tommy Doyle and Young Taylor, both of Lowell.

Winifred MacBrayne, formerly a captain in the aviation, and a popular man among the Lowell boys, gave an interesting talk on the country's present unrest, but expressed his confidence of better conditions and added, "It is the duty of every man eligible, to join the American Legion and to still further their patriotism in carrying out the efforts of this great and worthy organization." The meeting afterwards adjourned and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

Several of the boys responded to the requests of the batterymen and sang several popular songs. Those who sang were Richard Hadley, John C. Daly and Warren Kane.

About fifteen Andover boys made the trip in machines hired at Morrissey's garage.

Miss Katherine Kent, sister of the bride, clad in orchid pink satin, acted as bridesmaid, and Robert Stafford, brother of the groom, as best man.

The newly married couple are spending their honeymoon in the Catskill Mountains, and on their return will make their residence in Lynn, Mass.

Dollar Social and Poverty Party

The "Dollar Social and Poverty Party", held by the ladies of the Congregational church on Tuesday evening, was very successful and manifested the originality of the members who each read a verse telling the manner in which a dollar had been earned for the society.

A grand march with all present dressed in poverty-stricken clothes first took place, and then the verses were read. Several are printed below.

I have earned my dollar
And here it is;
But how I earned it,
You need not quiz.

But would you know
An easy way,
Just call around
On some fine day.

—Mrs. Neal

My dollar I earned for the Ladies Aid
I earned on Pole Hill with the aid of my spade.

Two years ago the seeds decayed,
And ne'er a showing had been made;
And all I had in the fall to boot
Was a terrible blister upon my foot.
This year my garden did very well,
I had plenty to eat and some to sell.

If this tale of my garden you have a doubt,
Just look in Haynes window when you go out.

—Mrs. Miller

I tried and I tried
To write a fine verse,
But the harder I tried
The thing became worse.

I fussed and I fumed
All hot round the collar,
For 'twas harder to write
Than to earn the whole dollar.

So at last I gave up
Like a bird in a snare
But here is the dollar
To make up my share

—Mrs. Matthews

Fritz Kreisler

The generally accepted tradition that youthful prodigies rarely if ever, fulfill the promise of their childhood when they reach maturity has little basis in fact. Because a great ado is made every few years over the failure of a prodigy, the public is inclined to forget that nearly all the greatest musicians showed from their earliest years distinct and remarkable talent. When Fritz Kreisler first came to this country as a prodigy at the age of fourteen, he had the usual success which is the lot of an attractive boy with a great talent, but the wise heads all maintained that he was being

"burnt" out and would amount to nothing. Twelve years later he returned to America, and before his first performance in New York, his coming was received with the usual scepticism. It was quickly discovered, however, that the wonderful boy had become a very great artist and today ranks as the greatest violinist of our time.

Up to the beginning of the year, Kreisler was one of the few violinists who under any conditions and circumstances, could fill the largest halls of London, Paris, Petrograd and Vienna. His hold on the musical public of Europe was unique. He attracted not merely the general public, but the connoisseur, for while he has all the brilliancy that the general public demands, underlying his art is the soundest and solidest musicianship.

To Kreisler is due entirely the splendid enlargement of the repertoire of modern violinists. His programmes cover a broader field than those of any artist now before the public.

drive to secure every available man to join before October 10th, which is tonight, was favored, and the project has already brought satisfactory results. Still further efforts will be made at the dance this evening, and it is of vital importance that every soldier, sailor or marine who has intentions of attending this dance, come prepared to make out this simple application.

Remember that a larger membership means more delegates to the convention, and this alone should be of immense interest to every service man who is to reap great benefits from such a worthy organization.

You will join eventually, so why not now.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF

THOMAS W. PLATT, JR.

Died October 14, 1918.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never can be filled.

We think we see his loving smile,
Although a year has passed,
But, in our memory, still he lives
And will unto the last.

Gone but not forgotten, by his Mother, Father,
Brothers and Sisters.

PUNCHARD NOTES

North Andover No Match for Punchard in Practice Game. Seniors Hold Dance. Charlestown Here this Afternoon on Local Playstead

North Andover journeyed to the local playstead Tuesday afternoon and lined up against the Punchard high eleven in a practice game that proved rather uninteresting throughout. Punchard scored several touchdowns and very little opposition was displayed by the visiting team. Both Coach Lovely and Coach Reardon of Andover and North Andover, respectively, drilled their men on their weak points, and as the game went on, a decided improvement was evidenced, although the North Andover team was handicapped greatly by being the lighter of the two. For Punchard, Captain Payne, Dalton and Partridge excelled, while Captain Glenny and Farnham were the distinguished players on the visiting team.

The dance held in the Punchard hall last Friday evening by the seniors, for the benefit of the athletic association, was a great success, about twelve dollars being realized after the expenses were paid. Buckley's orchestra furnished excellent music for the occasion, and all present spent an enjoyable evening.

About sixty people were present, including the chaperons, Mr. Lovely, Miss Clough, Miss Dunton and Miss Bennett. The committee in charge of the affair were as follows: chairman, Joseph Clinton; Robert Partridge, Virginia Hess, Edith Sweeney and Esther Boutwell. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were afterwards served.

A series of dances is being planned by the Athletic Association to be held in the near future. The association is badly in need of funds, and this seems the only way in which the expenses can be met.

Punchard is out for another victory this afternoon, when the strong Charlestown High eleven clashes with them on the local playstead. Punchard will undoubtedly produce practically the same lineup as the one that opened the game against Newburyport a week ago Saturday, with a few exceptions. Partridge at end, Clinton at fullback, and Lawrence at guard, are dependable players, and might be called on to start the game. Punchard has benefited greatly by this week's practice, especially the scrimmage against North Andover Tuesday afternoon. Several experiments were tried with remarkable success. With every man confident of victory in this afternoon's game, a hard, clean battle is predicted, and everyone is urged to attend.

The task of providing dinner and supper for three hundred visitors was a heavy one for the Andover churches, but it was successfully accomplished. Fred Swanton chairman of the social committee, had charge, and he was assisted by Mrs. Albert W. Lowe, Mrs. Wetterberg, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bacon, Miss Elizabeth Woodburn, Miss Margaret Robinson, Miss Effie Ross, Miss Edith Dunnells, and Clifford Dunnells, Mrs. E. C. Hudson and Mrs. Kenyon, and a corps of efficient waitresses. The dinner menu included ham and corned beef, hot mashed potatoes, pickled beets, celery, bread and butter, gelatine and whipped cream, fancy cookies, coffee and fruit, and the supper menu was baked beans, corned beef hash, vegetable salad, relishes, rolls, coffee, ice cream, assorted cake and fruit. With but one hundred and twenty-seven resident members only a church of workers could accomplish what the Andover Baptist people did.

ANDOVER WINS FIRST GAME

Blue's Goal Never in Danger. Several Chances to Score Wasted. Two Local Boys, Captain Adams and Leo Daley Excel

Andover started its football season right Saturday afternoon on Brothers field by shutting out the Cushing Academy eleven by a 12 to 0 score. The field was in very poor condition, being soggy and slippery, which hindered them greatly, although Andover had the faster team.

Several other chances to score were wasted through poor judgment by quarterback Wingate. Two of the touchdowns came in the first half when captain Adams caught a punt on his own 40-yard line, and with wonderful interference, crossed the goal line, but umpire Boyce did not call it a score as he ruled that Battie had held. A little later Smith threw a remarkable forward pass to Bush, who caught it a little way beyond the 10-yard zone, back of the goal posts. Cushing was greatly outweighed by Andover but through some unknown fault, lacked the necessary punch in line plays.

The forward pass was used several times, but owing to the condition of the field, and the damp ball, few of them were successful. Runs by Wingate, Smith and Adams, resulted in many yards gain.

Now is the time to fix that leaky roof.

WHY REYNOLDS SHINGLES ARE THE BEST:

Reynolds shingles were the first asphalt shingles made. They have had more years actual roof-test service than any other asphalt shingle. They have been on roofs for eighteen years and are still found to be in good condition. They are surfaced with granulated rock, slate, etc., and the colors are retained — reds, greens and gray — non-fading. Reynolds shingles are guaranteed — They will not curl, leak nor blow off. Economical to buy, economical to lay, no repairs or required. Reynolds shingles possess the three cardinal shingle qualities: Beauty, Durability and Economy. The mineral surfacing acts as a fire-preventive, making a roof against flying sparks and brands. These shingles are tested in the insurance underwriters laboratories and are officially approved as fire-retardants. Do not be misled into thinking all Asphalt shingles are the same. There are as many grades of Asphalt shingles as names. Reynolds shingles are the improved, approved best to use.
